DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1, 2, 4-6, 8-14, 16-24, and 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP01096374 (PTO-1449).

Claims 21-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 10287939 (PTO-1449), JP 04165037, JP 03072043 or JP 2002069550.

JP 10287939, JP 03072043, JP 04165037, JP01096374, or JP2002069550 in their respective abstract discloses the features including the claimed target Cu alloy/thin film. Therefore, when prior art compounds essentially "bracketing" the claimed compounds in structural similarity are all known, one of ordinary skill in the art would clearly be motivated to make those claimed compounds in searching for new products in the expectation that compounds similar in structure will have similar properties. In re Harris, 409 F.3d at 1341, In re Gyurik, 596 F.2d 1012, 1018, 201 USPQ 552, 557 (CCPA 1979); See In re May, 574 F.2d 1082, 1094, 197 USPQ 601, 611 (CCPA 1978) and In re Hoch, 57 CCPA 1292, 1296, 428 F.2d 1341, 1344, 166 USPQ 406, 409 (1970). As stated in In re Peterson, 315 F.3d 1325, 1329-30, 65 USPQ2d 1379, 1382 (Fed. Cir. 2003), that "A prima facie case of obviousness typically exists when the ranges of a claimed composition overlap the ranges disclosed in the prior art". Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to select any portion of range, including the claimed range, from the broader range (Ex parte Fu, 2008 WL 867826 (BPAI 2008) disclosed in a prior art reference because the prior art reference finds that the prior art composition in the entire disclosed range has a suitable utility. Also see MPEP § 2131.03 and § 2123.

The "target", "thin film", or "interconnect" in instant claims fail to recite structures; thus, it reads on the products of cited references. Kropa v. Robie, 88 USPQ 478 (CCPA 1951) and Corning Glass Works v. Sumitomo Electric U.S.A. Inc., (CA FC), 9 USPQ2d 1962.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed January 28, 2010 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

~~Turning to the references, all of the independent claims are amended herein to consist of copper, tin and then at least one additional element from the list shown in the claim. None of those elements are silver. Therefore, JP 2002-069550 can immediately be~~

Applicants argue that “~~withdrawn, since it requires silver.~~” But, it is found inconsistent with instant independent claim 21 which fail to recite “consisting of”. Thus, Ag is not excluded from JP 2002-069550.

Applicants argue that instant claims exclude P from JP 03072043. But, claims 21-24 recite "comprising" which does not exclude P. Sn is also optional in claims 21-24.

Applicants argue that instant claims exclude Cr from JP 04165037 and JP 10287939. But, claims 21-24 recite "comprising" which does not exclude Cr.

Applicants' argument in page 7 of instant remarks is noted. But, first, the alloying elements of cited references are disclosed for target material as instant claims. Second, elements in cited references are also cited in Markush group as instant claims. Thus, selecting known elements for specific properties for target material is contemplated within ambit of ordinary skill artisan.

Applicants' argument in page 7 of instant remarks is noted. But, claimed target composition is overlapped by target material of JP 01096374 (abstract, claim, and page 3 of translated “Measures for Solving the Problem”).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. JP 57056215 and JP 01096376 are references submitted applicants, which in their abstracts have shown that the claimed Cu target alloys elements and their proportions are known for target materials.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Applicant is reminded that when amendment and/or revision is required, applicant should therefore specifically point out the support for any amendments made to the disclosure. See 37 C.F.R. § 1.121; 37 C.F.R. Part §41.37 (c)(1)(v); MPEP §714.02; and MPEP §2411.01(B).
